Edward Alonso Joins Whitman as Senior Project Manager

Alonso will focus on providing quality designs on-time and on-budget as well as client relations.

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (April 23, 2010) – Whitman is pleased to announce that Edward Alonso, P.E., LEED A.P. of Bridgewater, New Jersey, has joined the East Brunswick-based engineering firm as Senior Project Manager. Whitman is one of New Jersey's leading Mechanical Engineering firms.

Alonso, who has more than 13 years of engineering and project management experience, will be responsible for providing quality designs to the satisfaction of project deadlines and budget. He will also be involved in creating and maintaining client relationships.

He is a licensed professional engineer in New Jersey and Maryland as well as being a LEED Accredited Professional. He is also an active member of the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers (ASHRAE).

His experience includes the design and project management of multi-discipline projects in various market sectors such as commercial, pharmaceutical, industrial, laboratories and higher education.

Jim Major, Vice President of Whitman MEP, reports that Alonso's significant experience analyzing and modeling energy consumption for the owners' operations will be a valuable resource for the firm. As a result of the audit process, energy saving opportunities are identified and economically evaluated. "The reduced operating cost goes directly to the bottom line, saving our clients hundreds of thousands of dollars each year," Major said.
